

Jon Kenzie

Pacifist

*I don't know
Very much about the technical stuff
But I often find
That singing is quite enough
To sooth the darkness
That lives in all men's hearts
To simplify a world
That's living in the state of the art*

*Hey you don't push me around
I may be a pacifist but I'm not a clown
You push me and I will defy
I will defy you across the countryside*

*I have many little things
Many little things that I don't need
But I'll never give them away
For they were given to me
So I'm stuck in a pickle jar
Floating down the M62
And the smell reminds me
Of a friend I once knew*

*He said, hey you don't push me around
I may be a pacifist but I'm not a clown
You push me and I will defy
I will defy you across the countryside*

*I'd invite you
To incite me
And to speak first
But you are quick to speak
So I'm slow to listen to you curse
We shall labour for
A greater esteem
And in some little measure
We may draw some belief*

*Oh
Hey you don't push me around
I may be a pacifist but I'm not a clown
You push me and I will defy
I will defy you across the countryside*

*Hey you don't push me around
I may be a pacifist but I'm not a clown
You push me and I will defy
I will defy you across the countryside*

Credits

*from Not Much Technical Stuff, track released August 12, 2011
Written by Jon Kenzie, Performed by Jon Kenzie & Eryl Roberts on percussion*